THE PRICE MURDER.

Vigorous Efforts Being Made to Capture the Perpetrator of the Crime.

LISBON WADDELL ARRESTED.

Preliminary Investigation in Magistrate's Court — Suspicious Circumstances. No Direct Evidence—Held for Further Examination.

A young negro man, Lisbon Waddell, is now in jail in this city charged with being implicated in the murder of Mr. Gaston Price last Sunday night. The arrest was made yesterday morning and the preliminary trial was held before Justice Fowler in the afternoon, but the evidence was insufficient; yet in hopes of further developments the defendant was committed to jail until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

About the only evidence so far that looks anyways suspicious is that Waddell was near the scene of the crime and Monday morning had a portion of his clothing, a white linen coat washed, but whether this coat was stained in any manner with blood or whether, as the accused states, it was washed on account of being dirt soiled, is yet to be ascertained. A search of most of his wearing apparel and other belongings yesterday revealed nothing, but the search is still being continued in the hopes that some clue may be discovered. The accused stoutly protests his innocence.

The facts above mentioned led to Waddell's arrest yesterday morning at Hilton, where he had just commenced to work for the bridge tender at that place. Mr. Boney Mintz, assisted by Mr. T. B. Chinnis, both of Navassa, made the arrest and carried their prisoner, who was quite submissive, back to Navassa and about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon he was brought to the city. Here Sheriff Stedman and Deputy Cox took him in charge on a warrant from Justice Fowler's court and lodged him in jail. At 4 o'clock the preliminary hearing, which was not objected to by the defendant on account of being held in New Hanover county, was held, J. O. Carr, Esq., counsel for the Navassa Guano Company, appearing on behalf of the State and the defendant without legal representation.

The only witness examined was Mr. C. H. Murray, the bridge tender at Navassa. He testified as follows:

"The defendant, Lisbon Waddell, was in my employ up to Wednesday of last week and occupied an upper room at my house, where he left his clothing. Wednesday he asked permission to visit the city (Wilmington), promising to return at once, but I did not see him again until last Sunday night. It was about 11:30 o'clock in the evening; there was a knock at the front door of my house, which is only about 100 or 150 yards from the scene of the tragedy. I inquired who my caller was, and a voice, which I recognized as Waddell's, replied: 'You ought to know.' Upon opening the door Waddell entered and went directly up to [illegible] apartment, not addressing a word to me. In a few minutes he came down stairs and asked for the loan of a satchel in which to pack and carry away his clothes. I refused his request and told him he could not take away his clothing until he paid me $2.50 which he owed me. He showed a disposition to do so anyway, and I got my gun and ordered him to leave the house, which he did. I then shut and locked the door. After about five minutes he called from the outside and asked if I would permit him to work out his indebtedness. I replied in the negative and told him that if he hadn't left my house when I ordered him to do so, I would have shot him. He answered: 'I would have gone to hell, then!'

"The half of an oar used by one of the assassins and which was found in the house near the corpse, was at one time my property. I had used it at one time as a post for a railing running from my house to the road, but about a month ago I pulled it down and threw it away over on a lumber pile across the track, a locality familiar to the accused.

"Waddell Sunday night had on the same pants he is wearing now (of dull brownish color) and a white coat."

The coat was exhibited and identified by the witnesses and admitted by the defendant as his property. It showed signs of recent washing, which the defendant also admitted and which his mother, Frankie Waddell, living at Powers & Gibbs' factory, from whom the coat was obtained, states she washed. But it was not ascertained whether or not the coat was blood stained before it was washed and, as the Waddell woman was not in court, this question had to be left open.

The accused, after having been informed that he was not compelled to make a statement and notified that anything he said could be used against him, made a statement to the effect that he knew nothing at all about the murder. Wednesday, he said, upon leaving Navassa, he came to the city and then, as he was tired working for Mr. Murray, he went to Powers, Gibb's & Co's plant in search of work which the foreman promised him the following Monday morning. He returned to the city and Sunday evening, after eating supper about 5 o'clock, with a relative, Dinah Santee, who lives in Brooklyn, and spending some time in the company of Willie Santee, Eliza Pierce and others, went to Navassa after his clothes and saw Mr. Murray, as already mentioned. From Navassa he went back to Powers, Gibbs & Co's factory and stayed there with his mother all day Monday. Tuesday he came to the city and went to work with the bridge tender at Hilton.

He stated he did not see any one at Navassa Sunday night, nor did he pass any one on the bridge. He also stated that he knew Mr. Price well and had several times done errands for him.

The authorities and the Navassa Guano Company are thoroughly investigating and in all probability there will be further developments today.

THE HANDSOME ADDITION

To the Coast Line's Main Office Now Occupied—A Big and Attractive Feature for Wilmington.

The south side addition to the Atlantic Coast Line's main office, corner Front and Red Cross streets, is not only a "thing of beauty," but a credit to Wilmington as well. It is really massive in design and structure, especially the latter, as probably few buildings ever had the thought, time and money spent on their construction as this one has. Then, too, it is handsome and attractive, both from the exterior and interior, and its appointments are thoroughly modern.

The new addition is about completed, save some inside work, and is now being occupied. Along the latter line it is well to note the locations of the different offices in the new building.

The entire suite of offices in the eastern part of the building on the first floor will be occupied by Mr. E. B. Pleasant, superintendent of roadway, and his able corps of assistants, while the relief department, in charge of Dr. G. G. Thomas, will be located in cozy offices directly opposite or in the eastern part of the building.

The second floor will be occupied by the Motive Power Department, Mr. J. S. Chambers, superintendent of motive power, and the office of Capt. F. W. Divine, general superintendent, on the east side, while those of President Warren G. Elliott, Treasurer James F. Post and Paymaster H. B. Lynch will be on the west side.

The entire third floor, which is particularly commodious, will be occupied by the general auditor, Mr. W. A. Riach, and his large force of employes.

So much for the addition; now as to the old building, though it doesn't look very aged, but on the contrary it has a bright and handsome appearance. Of course, the different transfers to the addition necessitates various changes in this one.

The first floor, on the east side, will be occupied by Edward Borden, superintendent of transportation, and the train dispatcher's offices. On the west side will be found the car accountant's (Mr. William Flanagan) department.

The second floor will contain the offices of Mr. H. M. Emerson, general freight and passenger agent, and Mr. William Pulliam, claim agent.

What is known as the annex will have the office of Mr. John R. Kenly, general manager, on the first floor, the office of Mr. T. M. Emerson, traffic manager, on the second, and the first vice president, Mr. Harry Walters, on the third.

Nearly all the removals have already taken place.

Now the Coast Line offices are thoroughly metropolitan in appearance and unsurpassed anywhere. In fact, it is probably the best equipped and designed building of its kind in the South. We know it is the handsomest and largest. It extends almost a block.

This splendid and costly new addition certainly shows that there is something "permanent" and that the Coast Line has the best interest of our city at heart. There is also the great benefit of the railroad shops located in our midst.

CAMP WORK COMMENCED.

Major Bunch Arrived Yesterday and Now at Work With Col. Michie.

The work of laying off the camp at Wrightsville commenced yesterday morning, under direction of Colonel Michie. Rapid progress was made and blue print drawings will be prepared immediately.

Maj. Chas. C. Bunch, of Raleigh, assistant quartermaster general, arrived yesterday via the Seaboard Air Line, and went directly to Wrightsville and to work. He expects to be here until about Saturday.

Col. W. A. Johnson, Maj. Champ McD. Davis, Capt. A. P. Adrian and Lieut. J. VanB. Metts met Major Bunch at the depot and entertained him during his short stay in the city. Captain Adrian and Lieutenant White accompanied him to the camp and assisted in the work.

A squad from the Wilmington Light Infantry was also at the camp yesterday assisting in the work. The squad consisted of Sergeant R. N. Nash, Corporal Hall Whitney and Privates T. C. Orrell, Louis Hatch, Harry West and Allen Huggins.

[Special Star Telegram.]

NORFOLK, VA., June 19.—The status of the teams in Virginia is anything but promising. Mr. Henry Bryan is here trying to locate Portsmouth at Tarboro, but back salaries and unpaid board bills make arrangements difficult. Manager Clark is in Charlotte trying to locate a team there. The idea is to put Portsmouth in Tarboro and Newport News in Charlotte.

Some of Portsmouth's players played with Richmond against Norfolk and according to league rulings these games must be thrown out.

The whole thing hinges on ability to raise money enough to carry the league through the season, as players do not care to take any more chances in a shaky organization. As it is, Mr. Bryan is unable to do anything definite until he returns to Tarboro for consultation with those who think of taking charge of the team there. Wilmington appeared on the field to-day at Portsmouth and both games were forfeited to Wilmington by Umpire Mace on the account of non-appearance of the Portsmouth team.

We play Norfolk here to-morrow, but Raleigh will have no game.

In Trouble, But Wait

'Til the Clouds Roll By.

— The Giants got two games yesterday without handling a bat or a ball.

— The first game between Raleigh and Newport, 1 to 0 in favor of the Turtles, was a dandy.

— The article reproduced on this page from the Charlotte Observer will be read with interest by our baseball friends.

— It is more than probable there will be some striking changes in the percentage column at the close of the current week.

— The Norfolk papers are enterprising. Neither of them had a line yesterday about the game between Wilmington and Portsmouth Tuesday.

— The Giants will have their hands full at Norfolk the remainder of this week, with the result in some doubt. The Skippers now have a team that may well be feared.

— The STAR'S special telegram from Norfolk, printed this morning, gives a correct and very interesting account of the present status of the Virginia-Carolina League.

— The following appeared in this column yesterday: "Oh! King Kelly! Harness your Turtles and make 'em beat the Shipbuilders to day. They are too close to the Giants." The King of the Turtles responded nobly by taking both games. How nice!

— The three remaining days of this week Richmond plays at Newport News, Wilmington at Norfolk, and Raleigh should play at Portsmouth. If the latter does not play will not the three games be forfeited to Raleigh?

— Portsmouth refused to play yesterday and then forfeited two games to Wilmington. "Salaries overdue," said a telegram to the STAR, was the reason assigned. It is hoped this excellent team may be taken by Charlotte or Tarboro.

— The news received from Portsmouth exclusively by the STAR about 2 p. m. yesterday was a stunner to the cranks, as it created an apprehension that the league was about to go to pieces. There is a strong probability, however, that arrangements will be made to keep all the teams in the field by transferring one or, possibly, two of the Virginia teams to North Carolina towns.

The following was received at 11 p. m.:

[By Associated Press.]

NORFOLK, Va., June 19.—The Portsmouth baseball team left the Virginia-North Carolina League to-day as the result of lack of support. The matter was brought to a focus by the unfavorable weather of the past few days. Wilmington was at Portsmouth to-day ready to play, but there was no game. Manager Clark, of the Portsmouth team, is in Charlotte, N. C., where a meeting is being held with a view of putting the team there. Tarboro, N. C., is hot after the team and has the money ready. If Charlotte does not take it, the team will go to Tarboro on Friday of this week and complete the season there.

Charlotte Makes an Offer.

The following special telegram to the STAR was received at midnight:

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 19.—At a meeting of base ball enthusiasts to-night, Charlotte made a proposition to take the Portsmouth base ball team on July 1st, at a salary of $1,000 per month for two months and a guarantee to pay salaries for the remaining two months of the season.

[By Associated Press.]

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 19, 12.30 P. M.—Manager Clark, of the Portsmouth base ball team, is here to night looking to a transfer of that team to Charlotte. A meeting of base ball enthusiasts was held at the Elks' Temple to-night, when the following guarantee was made:

Charlotte will take the Portsmouth team on July 1st at a salary of $1,000 per month for two months and guarantees to pay salaries for the two remaining months of the season. Manager Clark has the proposition under advisement. The chances are that Charlotte will get the Portsmouth team.

DOES CHARLOTTE WANT IT.

Manager of the Portsmouth Base Ball Team Offers to Sell Out to the Queen City.

[Charlotte Observer, June 19.]

The following extract from a letter received by a local baseball enthusiast from the manager of the Portsmouth, Va., baseball team will, at least, interest Charlotte people:

"If the people of Charlotte are desirous of seeing baseball for the remainder of the season, I will say that I am sole owner of the Portsmouth baseball club, and am willing, on account of small patronage to either sell or transfer my club to Charlotte. I prefer Charlotte, because I am led to believe it is the best town in North Carolina, and can easily support a good club for the remainder of the season. Friends of mine who know the people of your town have convinced me that I can do better there than elsewhere, so I will give you the chance of having a good club. There will probably be a second series for the championship started on July 1st, so we will have a good chance to get an even start. You can learn from any club manager in the league the actual strength of the Portsmouth club. We have been badly crippled all this series and are now about six games behind the leaders.

* * * I would much rather bring my club to Charlotte. The North Carolina towns are drawing better and showing more interest in the national game than are cities of Virginia, and for the benefit of the game, I feel it is best to get a couple more cities of the Old North State into the circuit. If you want a club, I would advise you to call a meeting at once and see how much money can be raised for the support of it for the balance of the season."

Popular Couple Wedded.

An exceedingly pretty home wedding took place last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Cannady, on Sixth between Wooster and Dawson streets, the contracting parties being Miss Gracie Guthrie, niece of Mrs. Cannady, and Mr. Joseph S. Lane. The tying of the nuptial knot occurred at 8.30 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Potter, pastor of Market Street Methodist Church, performing the ceremony. The parlors where the wedding took place were beautifully decorated.

Miss Mary Cannady was maid of honor and Mr. William Litgen best man.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lane are two popular young people of Wilmington and the STAR joins their host of friends in wishing them joy and a long life.

Delightful Lawn Fete.

The lawn fete given last night by the United Workers, of the First Baptist Church, on the beautiful lawn of the edifice, was very successful, both from an artistic and financial standpoint. The lawn was attractively decorated with flags and bunting and brightly illuminated by Japanese lanterns. The lecture room of the church was also used and was likewise tastily decorated. There, too, an enjoyable programme of music was rendered, Miss Lilly Sears, of Norfolk, and Miss Irene Peterson, of this city, being two of the principal participants.

The attendance was quite large, and each and every one had a delightful time.

Among the ladies who made the affair such a success were Miss Hester Struthers and Mrs. S. H. Burtt, Mrs. C. C. Brown, Mrs. L. L. Pritchard, Joseph H. Hanby, G. E. Leftwitch, H. D. Stanland and G. H. Yopp.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of the East Carolina Truck and Fruit Growers' Association Held Yesterday.

HIGHLY PROFITABLE SESSION.

Interesting Reports Were Presented and Adopted—Officers and Board of Directors Were Elected for Ensuing Year—Other Business.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the East Carolina Fruit and Truck Growers' Association was held in this city yesterday afternoon, and subsequently the new board of directors met. Both meetings were highly profitable and interesting. It plainly marked the great advancement that has been made by the Association the past year and the bright prospects of the coming season. The attendance was large and enthusiastic.

The stockholders meeting was called to order at the court house about noon by Mr. W. L. Hill, of Warsaw, president of the Association, and with the secretary, Mr. S. H. Strange, of Fayetteville, also present.

After the usual preliminary business, such as roll call and reading of minutes, reports were called for.

The board of directors presented their report, giving a general review of the Association the past year and what has been accomplished, and it was received and ordered filed.

The next report was that of Mr. H. T. Bauman, shipping master of the Association, and was most interesting in character, especially the statistical portion. No better summary of the report can be given than the following Southern Milling and Lumber Journal's interview with Mr. Bauman:

"To begin with, we have shipped to New York this season 105 car loads of strawberries, showing one consignee for each car, as per agreement entered into by and between the New York Fruit and Produce Dealers' Association and representatives of the East Carolina Fruit and Truck Growers' Association, full particulars of which were published in the Journal early in the season. By this arrangement the association effected a saving to the growers in freight charges of $22 50 per car, or in round figures, $2,362 50 on car load shipments to that city alone this season.

"The season for 1901 was late—possibly the latest we ever had, and our first shipments by express did not move until the 26th of April, refrigerator shipments only going forward from Chadbourn and Grist May 1st, and from points on the W. & W. R. R. May 2d and the A. & Y. division May 7th. Last year the first shipments were from the A. & Y. as early as April 22d, the first refrigerator car going forward on the W. & W. April 26th, Chadbourn and Grist April 25th—fully a week earlier than this year.

"Owing to weather and other causes the shipping season practically ended this year on June 4th, giving us only 32 days' movement, while last year we had 44 days good shipping, with weather conditions and the crop all that could be desired.

"Last year 1,075 refrigerator car loads went out from the W. & W., W. C. & A. and A. & Y. Railroads, aggregating 288,437 crates; 160 car loads by express or 64,049 crates; open freight, 12 cars or 2,473 crates, making a grand total of 349,959 crates in 1900. During the season of 1901 the shipments were as follows: In refrigerator cars, 1,116 cars or 264,652 crates; express, 161 cars or 54,299 crates; open freight, 944 crates, making a grand total for 1901 of 320,742 crates. It will thus be seen that the decrease in the number of crates this year as compared to last was 29,664, despite the fact that 1,116 cars were required for the service this year against 1,075 last year. The decrease in shipments this year over last was divided as follows: Refrigeration, 19,385 crates; express, 9,750; open freight, 529; total, 29,664 crates."

The report was a valuable one and was adopted and ordered filed.

At this stage a recess was taken until 2.30 o'clock, at which hour the association reassembled promptly and, after transacting business of minor importance, elected the following directors and then adjourned:

Dr. E. Porter, Rocky Point; J. S. Westbrook, Faison; W. L. Hill, Warsaw; J. H. Moore, Burgaw; J. A. Westbrook, Mount Olive; W. J. Boney, Wallace; S. H. Strange, Fayetteville; Dr. G. F. Lucas, Currie; D. W. Fussell, Rose Hill; B. F. Fussell, Teachey; J. B. Oliver, Mount Olive; W. E. Thigpen, Chadbourn; Geo. H. Thompson, Grist; M. F. Lenhardt, Chadbourn, and W. E. Springer and Geo. Westbrook, Wilmington.

Upon adjournment the board of directors met and selected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—W. L. Hill, of Warsaw.
Vice President—J. S. Westbrook, of Faison.
Secretary and Treasurer—S. H. Strange, of Fayetteville.

Several other matters not of public interest were attended to and then the meeting adjourned.

Dedicated Presbyterian Church.

Rev. P. C. Morton, D. D., has returned from conducting a series of meetings at the new First Presbyterian Church at Shalotte. The dedication of this church took place Sunday, and Dr. Morton was ably assisted by Reverend John Wakefield. The new church is very handsome and exceedingly well appointed.

Distillery Burned.

Fire Tuesday night destroyed the turpentine distillery of Mr. L. Walker at Town Creek, Brunswick county. Ten barrels of rosin were consumed by the flames. The loss is estimated at about $125 with no insurance. As the still was in operation Monday it is thought that the fire started from secreted sparks.

Opening of the Oceanic Hotel Last Night.

A large crowd attended the opening of the Oceanic Hotel at Carolina Beach last night. The main feature of the occasion was a dance, at which not only many of Wilmington's fair daughters and gallant sons tripped the light fantastic, but a goodly number of strangers as well. It was a very delightful affair.

The steamer Wilmington made a late trip up from the beach, reaching the city about midnight, and the moonlight trip was thoroughly pleasurable.

The hotel this season is in good hands and will, no doubt, be well patronized.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 20.

AS WE AND OTHERS SEE IT.

A Washington dispatch some time ago referring to the report that at the next meeting of the Hague Conference the Monroe doctrine would become a subject of discussion, stated that this Government would never consent to that doctrine becoming a subject of discussion, for its scope was settled and a construction or limitations by other governments would not be tolerated. But it may become a subject of discussion whether this government be a party to the discussion or not.

There was a time when European Governments tacifly consented to the assertion of the Monroe Doctrine because they were not especially interested. We had no other than trade interests on the Eastern hemisphere and they had no other than trade interests on this hemisphere, save the colonies which some of them possessed, which were not affected by that doctrine. But in recent years we have reached beyond this hemisphere, have become, as the pet phrase goes, a "world power" and have thus become more or less involved in world politics.

In his speech at the opening of the Pan-American Exposition at Detroit, Senator Lodge permitted himself to become excited, warned the American people that the Monroe Doctrine was in danger, that it must be maintained and to maintain it we must provide and equip a great navy and a great army, put them on a war footing and be prepared to defend the Doctrine against the combined world.

For a man hailing from a city which for months suffered from intense nervous excitement brought on by the apprehension that some Spanish warships might run up some night and throw a lot of bombs and other unacceptable missles into the town, he became quite bellicose. He supplemented his appeal for a powerful navy and army by the alleged efforts of the German government to obtain possession of an island on the coast of Venezuela which would give that government command of the Caribbean sea and the entrance to the Nicaragua Canal. This put him all in a tremor, as it were, and apparently made him oblivious of the fact that if it were true that Germany was working to get possession of that island, she was doing just what all the other governments have done when they got a chance and just what this Government has done and is now doing. Whether it would be contended by the champions of the Monroe Doctrine that seeking possession of an island on the South American coasts on either side would be a violation of the Monroe Doctrine we do not know, but that was the construction Senator Lodge put upon it.

He felt his construction fortified by the fact that there are already numerous German colonies in Brazil, which are increasing annually by additions from the Fatherland. He was much more alarmed at this than the Brazilians themselves, who do not seem to apprehend any danger from that source, but on the contrary welcome those German settlers, encourage and even offer them inducements to come by granting them liberal concessions and guaranteeing the interest on capital invested in enterprises for the development of the country, and not only that, but they put Germans in high civil positions and in commanding positions in the army, which shows that the relations between the people of Brazil and these German colonists are of a decidedly friendly character.

Senator Lodge may as well come to the conclusion not to let this colonization business worry him much for it is going on and has not yet begun in good earnest for there are inducements enough in that captivating part of this hemisphere to attract immigration from other countries and millions of people will find homes there in coming years. That will be the objective point for fortune betterers and home seekers long before the waste places in this Republic are filled up.

But how can Senator Lodge or any other champion of the Monroe Doctrine issue the mandate that no European nation shall seek to get possession by purchase or concession of any territory on this hemisphere when we have gone out into the seas on both hemispheres and laid our hands on what we wanted, not by peacable methods but by force? No European Government, whatever it may have thought of the Monroe Doctrine, uttered a protest against that although it might have been considered a rather cheeky procedure under the circumstances, but when they come to discuss this question in the Hague conference, if they do, might they not reasonably ask why should we claim the right to take possession of territory in the Eastern hemisphere, while denying the European Governments the right to do the same on this hemisphere? They might object to this country putting its own construction on the Monroe Doctrine, a construction which would permit it to possess itself of territory anywhere and by any methods it saw fit to adopt, while denying the same right to all European nations. This they will probably regard as a sort of jug-handle construction, and they will be right in so regarding it. When we branched out on the territory grabbing and expansion programme and planted our flag on the other hemisphere, on territory that then belonged to a monarchy, we practically abandoned the Monroe Doctrine. The "hands off" principle enunciated in that doctrine is logically as binding upon us as it is on other nations.

MORE DISCOVERIES.

The discovery of oil in flowing wells in Texas has been followed by similar discoveries reported from Alabama and Florida, and now comes the announcement of the discovery of anthracite coal, lead, copper and asphaltum in Mississippi, which was generally supposed to contain no minerals. Concerning this a dispatch from Jackson says:

"Mr. G. B. Turner, an expert in such matters, has spent the past six months prospecting among the hills of Northeast Mississippi, and his patience and labor have been rewarded by the discovery of all sorts of mineral wealth in paying quantities. In Wilson county he finds a fine quality of anthracite coal as is to be found anywhere, and is satisfied there is millions in it. In the county of Noxubee he has found lead and copper, the latter assaying under crudest condition one pound to two bucketsful of ore.

"A magnificent quality of asphalt is also there in the greatest abundance, says Mr. Turner, and he has had no trouble in interesting all the capital he needs. The order for machinery has been placed, and work will be commenced at once.

"Never before in the history of the state was there such a demand for a geological survey, and in the event the federal government does not make one of Mississippi before the legislature convenes here next winter, the state will make an appropriation for one on her own account. The last legislature appealed to the government for such a survey, but was informed that while the department was perfectly willing to do the work they had no funds available for the purpose and must wait for another appropriation by congress before they could reach this far down.

Hundreds of men are today prospecting all around over the state for oil, coal, silver or any other old metal or precious fluid.

A short while ago President Fish of the Illinois Central Railroad, who is very much interested in the resources and development of Mississippi, was invited to deliver an address before the students of the University, but being unable to attend, sent a paper which was read. In this address he said that we as much as Mississippi had no mineral, her future prosperity must depend upon agriculture and such manufactures as she could engage in, and yet right on the heels of this address by a man exceptionally well informed on the resources of the State, because he had made them a study, comes the announcement of the discovery of great deposits of anthracite coal, lead, copper and asphaltum, which will in all probability soon be followed by the discovery of iron. This shows what little conception there is of the riches hidden under Southern soil, even in places where their existence was not suspected, and it was taken for granted they did not exist. Mississippi has only recently given any thought to a geological survey, which will doubtless be stimulated, as this dispatch says, by these undreamed of discoveries.

WILL SMASH THEMSELVES.

In an interview in Washington a few days ago Senator Allison said he didn't think the tariff has as much to do with the Trusts as Representative Babcock supposed and consequently that Mr. Babcock's scheme for tariff reduction would not accomplish the object aimed at.

Representative Mercer, Republican, of Nebraska, has not given much thought to the Babcock scheme, but believes that the Trusts, at the pace they are running, will smash themselves without Mr. Babcock's assistance. In an interview he thus expressed his views on that subject:

"The trust question will doubtless be liberally discussed in Congress. I have not paid much attention to the Babcock bill and have no views to express concerning it. I think the trusts will sooner or later care for themselves and anticipate a heavy crash at some future time. They cannot hope to continue consolidating time after time, and every time they consolidate injecting a quantity of water into the stock and securities. Sooner or later there will come a time when the holders of the securities will want to be paid, and where is the money to come from? The way they are going now is like a man renewing a note, and each time making it for a larger amount. The people hold these notes, and some day they will want their money, and there will be difficulty in getting it."

Mr. Russell Sage and other conservative observers of the Trust movement have anticipated Mr. Mercer in these views and have predicted a smash up as the inevitable results of the inflation and watering process. He and they have good, solid reasons for their opinions. Trusts beget trusts, and then the swallowing process begins. The larger, like the larger fish, swallow the smaller, but others come into existence and the swallowing process must go on, until the gorging results and the bursting follows. They can't buy up all the rival concerns at twice or three times their value and expect to make it pay. It may for a while but it can't last and when the collapse comes great will be the smash and numerous the victims.

Miss Ruth Hanna, daughter of Senator Hanna, is one of the society leaders in Cleveland, Ohio. Bessie Johnson, daughter of Tom Johnson, the Mayor of Cleveland, is another. Miss Ruth, who was invited to christen the cruiser Cleveland, accepted, and Miss Bessie was invited to touch the button and let her slide, but when she heard that Miss Ruth had been invited to do the grand act of bottle-smashing she declined to play second as button-toucher. She haughtily declared that she wasn't going to play any second fiddle to Ruth, and if she couldn't smash the bottle the cruiser would have to slide down without her assistance.

—— A dispatch from Rio Janeiro states that a German syndicate has been formed with a capital of 25,000,000 marks ($6,000,000) to encourage the colonizing of several Brazilian States. Besides liberal grants of land, the Government of Brazil guarantees an interest of five per cent. on the capital invested in the enterprise. This indicates an alarming indifference on the part of Brazil to the alleged dangers of German encroachments in this hemisphere. But probably the Brazilian Government does not give any heed to the cries of our Teutomaniacal Jingoes.—Philadelphia Record, Dem.

—— The Alabama constitutional convention seems to be doing its work slowly, but it is doing some sensible things. One of these is to provide for increasing the salary of Governor from $3,000 to $5,000. The latter figure is certainly not too large, while the former has been practically prohibitive to the aspirations of other than men of means. Another section of the constitution provides that state officials shall be elected for a term of four years, and that the Governor shall not be eligible to the office of United States senator until one year after the expiration of his term as chief executive. The wisdom of this is apparent, since, in Southern states especially, the Governorship is often regarded as a stepping stone to the United States Senate.—Baltimore Herald, Ind.

This great downpour was accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning.

— Monroe Journal: Lightning struck the barn of Mr. J. E. Benton, who lives at Unionville, Saturday evening. There is a passage or driveway running through the building. A son of Mr. Benton, who was sitting in this passage, was severely shocked, being unconscious for some time. Two mules, one on each side of the passage, were killed. The young man is getting along all right and it is thought will experience no serious results from the shock.

— Greensboro Telegram: The revenue raiders caught two illicit distillers Saturday afternoon near McLeansville. They were brought to this city and were tried before Commissioner Wolfe Saturday night. Their names are Willis and John Holt. Willis was caught in the still house, and John in a wagon just outside with illicit liquor in the wagon. Willis was tried and sent to jail. The trial of tbhe other man was postponed until Thursday, and he was released on bail.

— Winston Sentinel: Sheriff Alspaugh spent Sunday at his home, five miles West of Winston. He reports that the rain storm in his section Sunday afternoon was severe and did great damage. He does not think he ever saw the creeks so high. The Vest mill dam and saw mill were washed away. At Carter's mill the creek was so high that water a foot deep stood on the floor of James Alspaugh's store. The sheriff says wheat was blown down and in many fields he does not believe more than half of the crop can be harvested.

— Statesville Landmark: A horse belonging to Mr. T. D. Miller died a few days ago at the age of 29 years. It had been in the Miller family about all its life and was well cared for. In recent years it had done little work but was cared for until it died. —— The rains of the past week have been very discouraging to farmers in view of the fact that wheat harvest is on. However, if there is plenty of sunshine from this on the wheat may yet be saved in good shape. A close observer says that this year reminds him of '86, when it rained all during wheat harvest and wheat was ruined and the other crops that year were no good.

— Raleigh News and Observer: Mr. R. N. Hackett, who is just back from Wilkesboro, says that the rain of last week produced another freshet along the bottoms on the Yadkin. On Saturday the water was up so that communication between Wilkesboro and North Wilkesboro was cut off and a detour of three miles had to be made to get from place to place. The farmers are disheartened and the grounds are so badly washed that there is no use in replanting a third time. Mr. Hackett says that the state of affairs is very deplorable and much hardship will result.

— Clarkton Express: We learn that the ferryman at Elizabethtown, Mr. Charlie Mulford, was drowned on last Friday night. It is supposed that he was insane, as he came from Lumberton about 1 o'clock Friday night, tried to drive in the court house at Elizabethtown, rang the court house bell, then went home. He tried to drive his buggy through the front gate but the buggy stuck the posts, then he backed and drove over the fence. He then went down to the river and was not seen until found Monday morning, by a crowd who went down behind the steamer Hurt in boats. His body was found near Waddell's ferry, about 3 miles below Elizabethtown.

The Neglected Voice.

The voice is the most common and at the same time the most complex of human faculties. When we listen to it, we realize nothing of the many influences at work in its use. Yet it represents the character, the mood, the temperament and the health of the individual when left to run in its own way. If uncontrolled, it will develop much as a flower garden will develop; the rank and weedy nature will come to the front, and the tones of exquisite beauty will be obscured. Bad daily habits in the use of the voice will give it many disagreeable qualities. If controlled, the voice will keep its weeds in the background and permit only its beauties to be known. If cultivated, the weeds will be taken out and the flowers developed.—Pittsburg Press.

"THE OLD PLANTATION

How We Lived in Great House and Cabin Before the War."

BY JAMES BATTLE AVIRETT.

[F. Tennyson Neely Co., New York, 1901.]

The author of this entertaining book, a well known Episcopal clergyman, is a native of Onslow county, and the old plantation of which he writes so tenderly was his father's large estate, embracing many thousand acres around Catherine Lake. Although he has passed nearly the whole of his life since manhood in Maryland and Virginia, his love for North Carolina has never abated, but has rather been intensified by time, as is clearly manifested throughout the volume.

He served during the war as chaplain on General Ashby's staff, and wrote a volume entitled "Ashby and His Compeers," and another entitled "Who Was the Traitor.

There is an excellent introductory chapter to "The Old Plantation" by the late Dr. Hunter McGuire, of Richmond, who was chief surgeon of Stonewall Jackson's command.

The purpose of the book is to portray faithfully the real life on a large, well managed plantation previous to 1861, and the task has been performed con amore, and with minute detail. It will surprise those readers who have had no personal knowlege of that life, in many particulars. Many of them will learn, for the first time, perhaps, that those whom it was fashionable at one period to describe as "slave drivers," were, as a rule, intelligent, kind, hospitable, courteous gentlemen who, in their relation to their servants, were more like indulgent parents than cruel masters—who required them to work like other laborers, of course, but treated them kindly and, when punishment for offences was necessary, had it administered with less—certainly not more—severity than was practiced in the United States navy at that time upon white men. Another thing that will be enlightening to some persons is the fact, herein fully set forth, that there was not only educated intelligence, but careful system in the management of these large estates, and that there was always a necessarily a proportion of skilled labor on them.

But while the author fully describes all these things, it is the social aspect of the plantation—or, as the title expresses it, "How we lived in Great House and Cabin"—that is chiefly treated, and it is treated with a loving hand. If, gazing back through the vista of fifty years upon the picture which he wished to transfer to his pages, he has, here and there, put on a shade too much of color, it has been because he feared that his work would fail to do justice to the life he sought to portray. It is very evident that he is inspired by an honest desire to avoid all exaggeration and record only the simple truth and in this he has succeeded, as every one who lived in those days must admit.

The "old plantation" on which he was born and reared consisted of about 2,500 acres of cleared land, on which various crops were raised, and about 20,000 acres of forest, chiefly pine, from which immense quantities of turpentine were made. The land now belongs to many different persons, and the life that once characterized it is a dream of the past—a dream on which the author loves to linger "with fond recollection," and which he has invested with a pathetic interest.

His description of the mutual confidence and affection existing between the master's family and their two hundred and fifty or three hundred servants; of the planting, gathering, housing and marketing of the crops; of the sports of fishing and hunting; of the festivities of the negroes, especially at "hog killing time," "corn shucking time" and christmas; of their superstitions and their religion, and many of the features of the life of the old plantation, is a true and faithful one, and, of course, in the drawing of the picture the element of humor is not lacking. The dialect of the negro of Eastern North Carolina is correctly given, with the exception that in one or two instances he is made to say "he am"—an expression I never heard a negro use in my life, although it is very common in books and articles written by Northern people. The author nodded a little, that's all.

No mention has been made of the graver questions suggested, or incidentally discussed, in the book, although it is but just to say that they are treated in a way that shows the author to be a patriot—without dishonoring in the slightest degree his Confederate record—a gentleman, and a Christian.

ALFRED MOORE WADDELL.

A Big Grasshopper.

A geographical expedition which set out for Australia from Boston on an exploring and mapmaking tour had engaged a negro cook, who took great interest in everything he saw. While the party was en route a kangaroo broke out of the grass and made for the horizon with prodigious leaps, an event that interested the colored gentleman from the Hub exceedingly.

"You all have pretty wide meadows hereabouts, I reckons," he said to the native who was guiding the party.

"Not any larger than those of other countries," returned the guide most politely.

"Well, there must be mighty powerful high grass roundabouts, heh?" he insisted.

"Not that I know of," replied the guide. "Why do you ask such odd questions?"

"Why, I'll tell you, boss. I was thinkin of the mighty uncommon magnitude of them grasshoppers."—Kansas City Independent.

Knocks Their Shoes Off.

Strange as it may seem, people killed in a railroad wreck are generally bereft of their shoes by the shock. In commenting on this peculiarity an old railroad engineer said: "A man who is killed in a railroad accident seldom dies with his boots on. I don't know why this should be, but it is a fact. It is particularly true in the case of a man who is struck by an engine and killed. In nine cases out of ten, when the body is picked up, it will be found minus shoes. Even men wearing heavy top boots are not exempt from this strange rule. Why is it? I guess you'll have to ask somebody who is wiser than I am."—Philadelphia Record.

Try It.

One can hear better with the mouth open than shut, a fact which may be verified by stopping the ears while passing through a railway tunnel and alternately opening and shutting one's mouth. The increase in the volume of sound while the mouth is open must be experienced to be appreciated.

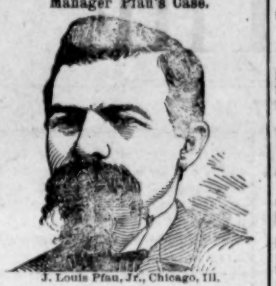
THE WHOLE SYSTEM

May Become Invaded by Catarrh—Manager Pfau's Case.



J. Louis Pfau, Jr., Chicago, Ill.

J. Louis Pfau, Jr., Manager Central Trust Co., writes from suite 201, Times-Herald Building, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"Last June I had a severe attack of nasal catarrh which was very annoying and debilitated my system. Seeing your advertisements I wrote you for advice. I used Peruna constantly until last November, when the symptoms disappeared entirely."

J. Louis Pfau, Jr.

Hon. James Lewis, Surveyor General of Louisiana, says:

"I have used Peruna for a short time and can cheerfully recommend it as being all you represent and wish every man who is suffering with catarrh could know of its great value."

James Lewis.

Wherever the catarrh is, there is sure to be a waste of mucus. The mucus is as precious as blood. It is blood, in fact. It is blood plasma—blood with the corpuscles removed. To stop this waste, you must stop the catarrh. A course of treatment with Peruna never fails to do this.

Hon. W. E. Schneider, proprietor of the Baltic Hotel, of Washington, D. C., speaks of Peruna as follows: "I desire to say that I have found Peruna a most wonderful remedy. I have only used one bottle and am thoroughly satisfied as to its merits. I cannot find words to express my gratification for the results obtained."

Send for free catarrh book. Address The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, Ohio.

Forethought.

"What did you buy so much of this cheap and worthless coffee for?"

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 19.—While there was a fair movement in cotton values to-day, business was exceptionally light and the net result of fluctuations did not materially favor either side. News was conflicting and orders were not to be depended upon. Traders were content to hold aloof for further incentive from the South or abroad, meanwhile devoting attention to the quiet evening up of old obligations. The market opened firm, unchanged to three points higher. Soon after the call the trading level was net five to six points higher on demand from shorts, light Southern and some buying for New England spinners' accounts. Cables were signally better, than looked for and for a time sentiment rather favored a bull market. But before 11 o'clock a dispatch from Fort Worth announcing that showers to fair rains had fallen in Northern Texas this morning undermined several large amounts of July cotton and created distrust among later months holders. Room bears pounded the market severely during the rest of the forenoon. From 8.24 July broke to 8.15 and from 7.37 October declined to 7.31. During the noon hour there was a like tendency toward reaction, but in the absence of important new business the improvement was very small. For the rest of the day the market worked within a narrow rut and no concerted effort was made to move prices either way. While New Orleans was a heavy seller here on the forenoon decline, the August option in the South continued to hold its abnormal position of five points above August here. Closed quiet and steady, net unchanged to five points lower.

REMEMBRANCE.

In a lone bleak wood a wild rose grew,
No eye ever saw it, no mind ever knew,
But the flower was none the less as fair
As any that ever breathed the air.
It gazed up to the calm, cold sky
And shuddered to think it soon must die.

It languished, and its heart grew chill;
The caress of a zephyr might well nigh kill,
But a passing breeze gave encouragement
And bore afar its delicate scent;
The breeze thus laden kissed a child
Who played in the meadow and, pausing, smiled.

The dear enchantment of that spot
The child, through a lifetime, never forgot.
The soul of the rose, with its last sweet breath,
Leaped forth to meet approaching death,
And gave to the breeze every crimson flake;
'Twas all it had, for memory's sake.

No eye ever saw it, no mind ever guessed
The sweetness of its final rest.
How came I to know it? 'Twas told by the dew
How sweet is Remembrance, and I tell you.

—J. B. Delany in Guidon.

WALK BLINDLY TO DEATH.

One of the Keenest Birds Is Often Deceived by His Visual Organ.

After trudging all day along the top of the mountain with no success at all, inasmuch as I had shot several times, but failed to bring down my game, I ran across an old hunter, J. W. Hyde. After the usual greeting we seated ourselves on an old log to exchange notes. I put the question:

"Why are the turkeys always on the run when I see them?"

The old man spit through his teeth, changed his position, laid his long, muzzle loading rifle on the ground, put the fourth portion of a plug of tobacco in his mouth and proceeded to tell me why the turkeys were always on the run when I saw them:

"Of all the game I have ever hunted turkeys display the most wonderful power of vision. I cannot tell just why this is. I have made a microscopical examination of the eyes of the hawk, eagle, fox, weasel and owl, but find no material difference in the lens and retina. The ciliary muscles and the iris are exactly the same, yet none of these keen visioned creatures can compare with the turkey in point of seeing. I remember the acuteness of sight displayed by one old gobbler. I had carefully concealed myself, and no part of my body was visible but the upper part of my head. A puff of wind slightly disturbed the brim of my hat. He saw it and immediately took to flight.

"On another occasion I was hunting in the mountains in Georgia. I was lying behind a log and was carefully hidden, all but the upper part of my face. A turkey was slowly coming in response to my call and was carefully noticing for signs of danger. A mosquito was stinging me fearfully on the forehead. I raised my finger slowly to crush it, and as soon as the finger came within range of vision cluck went the turkey, and he was gone.

"Now, the most inexplicable thing in regard to hunting turkeys is that, with all their acuteness of sight, the surest way to get a shot is to sit down in an open place with your back against a tree, in full view, and, strange to say, they will walk up within ten steps without seeing you."

Just then we noticed that the sun was down. The old hunter invited me to spend the night at his camp, which I did and had a most pleasant time.—Forest and Stream.

JACK TAR'S GROWL.

A Story Illustrating the Sailor's Habit of Grumbling.

The author of "From Edinburgh to the Antarctic," writing of the sailor's habit of grumbling, says: "The dinners are all the same—that is to say, Monday's dinners are all alike, and what we have today we shall have this day six months hence. Jack's forefather this day 100 years ago had the same menu and made the same uncomplimentary remarks about the dishes, and 100 years hence on this day Jack's children will growl over their salt horse and plumless duff." The author also tells this "yarn" to illustrate that Jack's habit of grumbling can't be cured and must be endured:

Once upon a time there lived a skipper whose wife said to him that if she went to sea the poor men would never find fault with their food. Her husband took her with him on a voyage, and the good woman attended to the cooking in the galley herself.

The scouse was thick with fresh vegetables, the bread was white and without weevils, the meat was good, and the duff was almost half plums, but still the men growled.

Then the skipper's wife thought of the hens she had brought on board to lay eggs for her husband's breakfast. She took them out of the coop, wrung their necks with her own fair hands, plucked them, roasted them and sent them to the forecastle on the cabin china.

"Now the men," she said to herself, "will know how much we think of their comfort."

At eight bells she stole forward to the forecastle to listen to the praise of her skill as a cook. She looked down the hatch and saw a big black fist plunge a fork into the hen and heard a hoarse voice growl, "I say, Bill, what d'ye think this 'ere bloody fowl died of?"

A DOMESTIC JAR.

The Little Dialogue With Which the Proceedings Were Enlivened.

Here's a little dolly dialogue that was overheard in a $24 a month Capitol hill mansion one evening last week:

She—Why, oh, why, did I ever marry you?

He—Because I was a good thing.

She—You are becoming positively coarse.

He—Association.

She—You pay no attention whatever to my little wishes.

He—What's the use of chasing a car after you've caught it?

She—I believe you have been drinking again.

He—No such luck.

She—I'm in rags.

He—Well, we'll do a sketch. So'm I.

She—I haven't been to the theater for two weeks.

He—Yours is a sad story.

She—Brute!

He—Ours is a peaceful home.

She—Are you going down town tonight?

He—If I can swing you for car fare.

She—I have only $3 in my purse.

He—Hetty Green!

She—I saw a pair of high heeled patent leathers today, reduced to $8, that I must and shall have.

He—D'je see any men's brogans for $1.39?

She—Why don't you get shaved?

He—Waiting for pay day.

She—Don't you know the rent and the gas will be due this pay day?

He—Then I'll cut out the shave.

She—I wish I had never left mamma, so I do.

He—Others, others!

She—I have a good notion to go right back to her this minute.

He—Have you got an umbrella?

She—Oh, you—you—g-g-government c-c-clerk! (Tears. Curtain.)—Washington Post.

AFRAID OF BEING KISSED.

Clever Story of a Man, a Maid and an Iron Kettle.

Here is an ingenious Circassian story: A man was walking along one road and a woman along another. The roads finally united, and the man and the woman, reaching the junction at the same time, went on from there together. The man was carrying a large iron kettle on his back. In one hand he held by the leg a live chicken, in the other a cane, and he was leading a goat. Just as they were coming to a deep, dark ravine the woman said to the man:

"I am afraid to go through that dark ravine with you. It is a lonely place, and you might overpower me and kiss me by force."

"If you are afraid of that," said the man, "you shouldn't have walked with me at all. How can I possibly overcome you and kiss you by force when I have this great iron kettle on my back, a cane in one hand and a live chicken in the other and am leading a goat? I might as well be tied hand and foot."

"Yes," replied the woman, "but if you should stick your cane in the ground and tie the goat to it and turn the kettle bottom side up and put the chicken under it, then you might wickedly kiss me in spite of my resistance."

"Success to thy ingenuity, O woman!" said the man to himself. "I should never have thought of this expedient." And when they came to the ravine he stuck his cane into the ground and tied the goat to it, gave the chicken to the woman, saying, "Hold it while I cut some grass for the goat," and then, lowering the kettle from his shoulders, he wickedly kissed the woman, as she was afraid he would.—Stray Stories.

Boston's Slave Market.

In the old colonial days Boston had an "intelligence office," which was also a slave market, as appears from a notice published in February, 1770: "The intelligence office opposite the Golden Ball, lately kept by Benjamin Leigh, is now kept by Grant Webster. There is to be sold at said office West India and New England rum, wines of several sorts, male and female negroes, several secondhand chairs," etc.—New York Tribune.

Cold Steel Or Death.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure Stomach and Liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50 cents cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store. †

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of every-day living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCLIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 20,

TWO NEGRO MEN LYNCHED.

For Complicity in the Murder of John Gray Foster Near Benton, Louisiana.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SHREVEPORT, LA., June 19.—Frank, better known as "Prophet" Smith and F. D. McLand, held at Benton for complicity in the murder of John Gray Foster, were taken out by a mob to-night and strung up to a tree. They were left dangling side by side. The lynching occurred on the Arkansas road about 1½ miles s from the jail. Both negroes made statement before death, denying that they had anything to do with the killing. Smith, who was the head of the "Church of God" movement in that section and was blamed as being responsible for the sentiment against the whites, which led to the death of Foster, died praying. McLand was silent as he was swung up.

As Smith was being led from the jail, prior to the execution, he was heard to say: "Lord, you promised to be with me now."

There were about 200 armed men in the mob and they overpowered the sheriff and jailor, taking the keys away from them. The lynchers claimed that the execution of these negroes was necesary to the preservation of the lives of white men in this locality.

MILLIONAIRE WEDDING.

Miss Mabel Foster Married a Son of U. S. Senator Clark of Montana.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BUTTE, MONT., June 19.—W. A. Clark, Jr., the youngest son of United States Senator W. A. Clark, and Miss Mabel Foster, were marrried this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. S. C. Blackiston, of St. John's Episcopal church, officiating. Senator Clark arrived last night to attend the wedding and it is said that his present to the bride was a check for $100,000. The groom's present was a necklace of diamonds and pearls, said to be valued at $60,000. The bride's gown cost $5,000. The wedding journey will extend to Europe and will cover one year.

W. A. Clark, Jr., is supposed to be worth three millions in his own right.

A GIGANTIC SCHEME

To Transfer Railroads in the United States to the Government.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

DENVER, Colo., June 19—The Times says:

"A gigantic scheme is under way to transfer the railroads of the United States to the government. A Western financier declares that within a few years the Rockefeller, Harriman, Vanderbilt, Gould and Morgan interests would turn over to the government every line of the railroads in the country, the government to pay the total value of about $10,000,000,000; a string of banks to be controlled by the same interests to financier the deal.

THE MOLINEUX CASE.

Argument For and Against a New Trial Concluded.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 19.—The fate of Roland B. Molineux, convicted of murder, as the poisoner of Mrs. Katherene J. Adams, at New York in December, 1898, is in the keeping of the seven judges of the Court of Appeals who, for three days past, have been listening to the argument for and against a new trial. The appeal was finally submitted at 1:35 o'clock this afternoon and the decision will not be announced until some months hence, when the courts sit at Albany for the Fall term.

RIOTING IN RIO.

Four Persons Killed and Twenty Others Wounded by Police and Cavalry.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

RIO JANEIRO, June 19.—Great indignation and excitement have been aroused here by the charging of an increased fare on the Sao Christovac street railroad. Some cars were burned by the rioters Monday night, and Tuesday further excitement was fomented by the disgruntled elements of the population. The police and cavalry charged at Juvidor and in the business districts, killing four persons and wounding twenty. The disturbance was continued to day and several persons were wounded, but the excitement is abating. There is no political significance in the rioting.

LYNCHING NEAR LAGRANGE.

Negro Preacher Who Attempted to Assault Mrs. Noah Davis.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

LAGRANGE, N. C., June 19.—D. B. Jones, the negro preacher who attempted to rape Mrs. Noah Davis, near LaGrange yesterday, was taken from the guard house here last night and lynched. Little can be learned at LaGrange of the affair, save that during the night time cries of distress and pistol shots rent the air, and some who ventured forth to ascertain the cause found the lockup had been broken into and the negro would-be rapist had disappeared.

At the New York Yacht Club yesterday it was stated that the race between the Constitution and Columbia and probably the Independence, will be held at Newport on July 1 and 3.

At the annual commencement at Brown University, yesterday, announcement was made that the desired $2,000,000 endowment had been aaised.

RUSSIA AND THE UNITED STATES.

Situation as to the Retaliatory Tariff War Between the Two Governments.

TREATY RIGHTS INFRINGED.

Secretary Gage Raises the Question—Russian Ambassador's Views—Issues Do Not Seem Very Grave—Has No Political Significance.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The situation as to the retaliatory tariff war between the United States and Russia is such that the next move must be made by the former, if this contest is to be pursued.

Secretary Gage, in his letter, raises the question whether the Russian government has not infringed upon the rights of the United States under treaty. Article VI. of the treaty of commerce with Russia of 1832, reads: "No higher or other duties shall be imposed on the importation into the United States of any article, the produce or manufacture of Russia; and no higher or other duties shall be imposed on the importation into the Empire of Russia of any article, the produce or manufacture of the United States, than are, or shall be, payable on the like article being the produce or manufacture of any foreign country." * * *

By levying maximum duties on United States bicycles, rosins and machinery, and especially designating them as United States products, the Russian government has, it is not doubted, made just such a discrimination as is provided against in this article of the treaty. The question is raised, however, whether, by our action in levying a duty on Russian petroleum, especially describing it as such, the United States government has not also violated this article. There is no penalty article in the treaty, but under the common practice of international law a country may renounce the whole of a treaty where it is satisfied that one of its provisions has been purposely broken. If such extreme action is taken in this case, there would be no trade between Russia and the United States, and as far as Russia is concerned, the maximum tariffs which are practically prohibitive, would apply to all imports from the United States.

On the other hand if such action by Russia is regarded as discrimination, the United States government may, by existing law, exclude any or all imports from Russia.

No Political Significance.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, in discussing the latest phases of the tariff issue which has arisen between Russia and the United States, to day said that the issues do not seem to him to be very grave and he is hopeful that they will be satisfactorily adjusted. He said that the action of Russia is an economic move, pure and simple, and is quite certain that it is due to no antagonism against the United States.—Count Cassini said that no political significance could attach to a matter of a purely commercial nature. He said he knew nothing of any European movement against American products.

MRS. BARKER TESTIFIES.

Trial of Thomas G. Barker for Shooting Rev. John Keller—Case May Go to Jury To-day.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The fate of Thomas G. Barker, on trial at Jersey City, N. J., for the shooting of Rev. John Keller, may go to the jury tomorrow. The defence had practically finished when the court rose this evening. It is not thought prosecutor Erwin will take long in rebuttal.

Barker and his wife were upon the stand to day. They told their story, so far as the court would allow answers to the questions of counsel for the defence, and although the record does not show it, Mr. Van Winkle got reference to the alleged assault before the jury in one way and another, though the nature of the assault was not brought out. The State had it stricken out each time, but the impression went to the jury.

Barker on the stand told his version of the shooting. He said he met Keller and that Keller spoke to him. This was in direct contradiction of Keller's testimony on the stand, as he claimed not to have met any one. Barker said he responded to Keller's greeting by calling Keller a villian, charging him with outraging Mrs. Barker; he then, he said, began firing. Mr. Keller, when on the stand, swore that not a word was spoken and that he saw no one.

The purpose of Barker's testimony was to show that after having brooded for a period of what his wife had told him, he was in a morbid state of mind and when he came face to face with the minister he was carried away by feeling and began firing; that it was sudden, violent and temporary insanity, lasting but a moment, but long enough to cover the period of the shooting.

When the court rose the defence was bringing testimony to support this idea with expert medical testimony. Barker admitted he bought the revolver about the time he first heard the story which worried him and caused him sleepless nights and great mental stress. He denied, however, that he bought it for the purpose of shooting the clergyman.

Mrs. Barker was expected to break down and become hysterical on the witness stand, but a cooler woman has seldom occupied the chair. Mrs. Barker was questioned as to her connection with the Trinity mission, of which Mr. Keller was rector.

"Why did you sever your connection with the mission?"

"Because Mr. Keller outraged me," was the answer without hesitancy.

Mr. Keller sat through it all without betraying the slightest emotion. It is doubtful if he heard much of the testimony, as most of it was in a subdued tone, and his hearing is far from good.

ALABAMA'S CONVENTION.

Section Adopted Making Governor Ineligible to the U. S. Senate.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., June 19.—Consideration of the executive department of the proposed new constitution was resumed in the constitutional convention this morning. A section making the Governor ineligible to the United States Senate was adopted, as was also the section forbidding the Governor appointing members of the Legislature to office.

J. H. Philips, president of the Melbourn (Fla.) State Bank, committed suicide late yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat with a razor.

CLOTHING FRAUDS AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Gen. Shafter Says There Is No Shortage There in Any of the Departments of the Army

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The War De artment to day made public two telegrams dated yesterday, relating to the alleged clothing frauds at San Francisco. The first is a message from General Corbin to General Shafter, asking for information on the subject, stating that "it is desirable from every point of view that detailed facts of any importance be given the department before being exploited in the newspapers."

General Shafter's reply is as follows: "Reference to your telegram to-day, I have refrained from making a report regarding clothing seized by Colonel Maus, because the quantity was very small and it all appeared to have come from the same man, a junk dealer who did business around the Presidio. The clothing had evidently been sold to this peddler by soldiers and recruits. The junk man and his son who sold it have been arrested by the Federal authorities and their case is being considered by the Federal grand jury to-day.

"There is no shortage in any of the departments here. This seized clothing undoubtedly represents the accumulation of articles which have been sold from to time during the past year or two by the thousands of soldiers who have passed through San Francisco. I do not regard this matter as of any importance, though it has been widely exploited by the sensational newspapers. However, the seizure of these articles and the arrests made will have the effect, I think, of discouraging the purchase or sale of soldiers' wearing apparel in this vicinity hereafter.

"Following is an exact list of the articles seized: Blankets, eleven pairs; leggings, five pairs; blue flannel shirts, forty-eight; blouses, one; gauntlet gloves, two pairs; black satin shoes, seventy seven pairs; tan and russet shoes, fifty-three pairs. All these articles are now in the hands of the proper departments."

PRO-BOER MEETING HELD IN LONDON.

Thousands of People Assembled—Speeches Made and Resolutions—Disturbances by Jingoes.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, June 19.—Thousands of people began collecting outside of Queen's Hall two hours before the advertised time of the pro Boer meeting held there to-night. When the doors were finally opened the pressure of the surging mob was so great that many persons fainted. There was considerable disturbance and windows were broken during the attempts made by persons without tickets to gain admission. Some of these were expelled.

In spite of the vigilance of the promoters of the meeting many jingoes gained an entrance to the hall, which was crammed from floor to ceiling. Much hooting, mingled with cheers, greeted the delegates upon their arrival, and during the evening the delivery of speeches was attended with some difficulty from the same cause.

Henry Labouchere presided at the meeting and many prominent pro-Boers were present.

During the meeting fully 10,000 jingoes gathered outside the Queen's Hall, in Regent street, blocked traffic and necessitated relays of policemen to keep a semblance of order in the crowd. Several men mounted the parapet of the Langham hotel, and waving an union jack, proposed resolutions against the pro-Boer agitation which they declared to have been carried when the meeting in Queen's Hall terminated.

The usual speeches were made and the usual resolutions were carried amid much commotion and excitement. The resolutions included an amendment in favor of the complete independence of the Boer republics, proposed by Baron Batersea, for the Radicals, which did not meet with the approval of the Labouchere party. The meeting ended with singing of the Marseillaise.

Several collisions occurred between the crowd outside the hall and the police, and the latter had the greatest difficulty in handling the assemblage. No casualties were reported.

The Daily Mail asserts that the promoters of the Queen's Hall meeting secured the services of six or seven hundred "stalwarts" as stewards. These "gangs of foreign ruffians" were found inside the hall, according to the Daily Mail, ready to keep order and eject the malcontents. The "stalwarts" were drawn from the low class foreign clubs in Soho. Many of them were armed with sticks, broom-handles and knuckle-dusters, and the Daily Mail says they acted with unrestrained violence in excluding Royalists and throwing out undesirable persons.

MOVEMENT FOR A THIRD PARTY.

Launched by Its Promoters Yesterday Afternoon at Kansas City, Mo.

WITH GREAT EXPECTATIONS.

Outcome of a Conference of Populists, Socialists and Free Silver Republicans—New Party's Principles. Mr. Bryan Not In It

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 19.—The allied third party movement which its promoters say will result before 1904 in a national organization strong enough to name a presidential nominee, was launched herethis afternoon. It was the outcome of a conference of reformers from the ranks of the old parties and its principles are said by some to have been adopted with a view to fitting the views of William J. Bryan. The conference was called by Lee Meriwether, of St. Louis, who, with twenty-two other St. Louis leaders in the Public Ownership party of that city, came to Kansas City yesterday from a visit to Mr. Bryan at Lincoln, where the intentions of the delegation had been laid before the Nebraska statesman. Mr. Bryan, it was stated, had expressed sympathy with the movement, if he had not gone so far as to support it.

At the conference there were represented Populists of all persuasions, public ownership was advocated, and free Silver Republicans, Socialists, Single-taxers and Bryan Democrats were in attendance. It was stated that it was proposed to form a third party in Missouri, which would finally be taken up by the dissatisfied in the old parties from other States.

A committee on organization was appointed and instructed to report to day. The committee, which represented each element present, to-day submitted the following as the new party's principles, and they were adopted.

Public ownership of all public utilities, as railroads, telegraphs, etc.

While awaiting the legislation necessary to secure public ownership, rigid control of freight and passenger rates and severe penalties for rebates and other discrimination by railroads.

Taxation of railroads and other public utility corporations in the same proportion as the value of farms and other property.

Direct legislation by the initiative and referendum, to the end that the people may initiate good legislation and veto bad legislation.

Graduated income tax, to the end that wealth which receives government protection shall bear its just share of the cost of the government.

That whatever is used as money shall be full legal tender, issued by the general governments in sufficient volume for business purposes, and that volume fixed in proportion to population.

Just election laws throughout the State.

Home rule for cities and abolition of the present system of using the police as a standing army to carry primary elections in the interest of dishonest politicians representing still more dishonest special privilege corporations.

Election of United States Senators by popular vote.

The meeting organized by electing J. H. Cook, fusion Populist, chairman; J. H. Millis, Middle-of-the-road Populist, vice president, and F. S. Kowalski, public ownership member, secretary.

The committee besides deciding on the new name for the movement, will call a State Convention for some time next Fall. In the meantime, the members will prepare an address to the people of the State.

Headquarters will be established at both Carthage and St. Louis and the committee will appoint a chairman for each county in the State, whose duty will be to enlist members and organize them into county clubs. The time for holding the convention will be fixed later.

Mr. Meriwether this afternoon at the conclusion of the conference, was asked: "Will not your movement only result in turning the State over to the Republicans?"

"I do not know, but I would a little rather the Republicans should win than the present organization of Democrats. As Mr. Bryan said to me last Monday, 'I like an enemy under his own colors better than one who steals my colors.'"

Bryan Not in it.

ATLANTA, GA., June 19.—The Atlanta Constitution to-night, in response to a telegram of inquiry, received a dispatch from W. J. Bryan denying that he was affiliated with the third party movement. Mr. Bryan's telegram reads:

Iowa City, June 19.—The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.—Telegram received. No truth in report. (Signed) W. J. Bryan.

STORM IN MISSOURI.

One Man Killed and Nine Persons Injured. Buildings Wrecked at Booneville.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BOONEVILLE, MO., June 19.—The most disastrous storm of rain and wind that ever fell in this section, visited Booneville to-night. Tobe Fisher was killed by the falling walls of a large two-story brick building. The roofs were blown off several building blocks and many residences. A large brick foundry near the river front was completely destroyed. The heaviest loser is the Bell Telephone Company whose exchange is practically destroyed. One death has been reported and nine injured.

Directors of the American Telephone Company have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. and an extra dividend of ½ per cent.

THE TEST OF TIME.

You buy Furniture for a lifetime. You base your estimate of the firm from whom you buy it of on how it turns out after you have bought it and carried it home. A firm therefore that intends to stay in business a long time cannot afford to sell anything that does not give long time satisfaction. I cannot afford to let any one buy a dollar's worth of Furniture that won't entirely please them. My business has grown to large proportions through honest treatment of the public, and that is the secret of my success. N. F. PARKER,
